London, June 30 (AP)—Persistent efforts to adjust the threatening stabilization problem in a manner to allay the fears of France and other gold standard countries failed late tonight when a meeting of chiefs of the world economic conference with Raymond Moley, special American envoy, adjourned without having received any reply from President Roosevelt upon a proposal designed to halt erratic fluctuations of the dollar.

Professor Moley, who was understood to have submitted a revised plan to President Roosevelt today, told the delegates of gold countries that he had been unable to reach President Roosevelt at Campobello and was unable therefore to deliver the American executive's response which the European diplomats and monetary experts had so eagerly awaited.

Task for the Banks
Georges Bonnet, French finance minister and leader of the gold bloc, on leaving No. 19 Downing street where tonight's meeting was held, went immediately to catch a train for Paris.

It appeared that the conference and efforts to solve the currency question had been adjourned over the week-end.

(President Roosevelt at his Campobello vacation retreat was represented as reiterating the American view that the United States cannot undertake to stabilize the dollar at present while the program for raising prices is in progress. Any effort to prevent sharp fluctuations is the task for central banks rather than for governments, it was said.)

To plan the Prime Minister MacDonald, Mr. Bonnet and other representatives of gold standard countries met, in vain, at the prime minister's official residence late tonight.

Mr. Moley took over the entire job of dealing with the stabilization question today, the American delegation taking the position this matter was not within their mandate.

An American spokesman at the London embassy, where Mr. Moley met representatives of the gold bloc, explained that control operations by the federal reserve banks might be usefully employed to check the wave of speculation in the dollar.

Control machinery was set up during the March bank holiday and is available for operations, but how far the federal reserve bank of New York would go in supporting the dollar was a matter of uncertainty here tonight.

Acknowledges Wire
Sent To President
By Patrick O'Brien

Lansing, June 30 (AP)—An acknowledgment of his telegram asking President Roosevelt to force federal officials to testify in the Detroit grand jury banking investigation, was received by Patrick H. O'Brien, attorney general today.

The telegram signed by Stephen Early, assistant secretary to the president, said, "Telegram received. Will be laid before the president immediately upon his return. Will advise later regarding your request for an appointment. Am sending copies of your message to the secretary of the treasury."

BABY KIDNAPING
SUSPECT HELDLee Turner Arrested in Chicago, Wanted in Lindbergh Case

Chicago, June 30 (AP)—Lee Turner, 34, an ex-convict whose record on file at police headquarters here bore a "stop" order with the notation from the department of justice, "Wanted in connection with the Lindbergh kidnaping" was arrested today by two detectives.

Halted as he walked from a restaurant by Detectives Roy Van Herik and James Brennan, one of whom said he recently saw Turner's picture in a magazine listed as one of those sought for the kidnaping in March, 1932, the prisoner at first gave the name of "Doc" Jennings.

After being taken to detective headquarters, he readily admitted he was Turner, officers said, but denied any knowledge of the kidnaping and slaying of the infant son of Col. and Mrs. Chas. A. Lindbergh and refused to talk further.

Word of his arrest was telegraphed to the department of justice at Washington but police here said they did not know the reasons Turner was reported as a suspect in the case. Chief of Detectives William Shoemaker said Turner would be handed over to federal authorities tomorrow.

Detective bureau records revealed Turner served six years in Leavenworth penitentiary for violation of postal laws; two years at Jefferson City, Mo., prison in connection with an automobile theft; and a two year term at Booneville, Mo., for larceny.

New Jersey state police said they had no record of a Lee Turner wanted in connection with the Lindbergh abduction and slaying.

Widow Of Diamond
Is Found Murdered

New York, June 30 (AP)—The widow of the notorious Jack Diamond was found shot to death in her Brooklyn apartment tonight, a year and a half after her gangster husband was slain in an Albany hotel.

The body of the 36-year old woman, whose maiden name was Alice K. Schiffer, was discovered on the living room floor by Charles Hunter, superintendent of the building, to whom neighbors expressed the belief something was wrong.

The medical examiner found a bullet wound in her right temple, and determined she had been dead since early Wednesday.

Mrs. Diamond's dress was torn and chairs in the living room were overturned. On a table in the kitchen were three coffee cups. Two or three bullet holes were found in the walls of the apartment.

Van Wagoner And Voelker To Take Their Posts Today

Lansing, June 30 (AP)—The Democratic broom started sweeping again today as two members of the Republican administration ended their terms.

Dr. Paul F. Voelker, of Battle Creek, who was sworn in as superintendent of public instruction Saturday, announced his staff of assistants. Republicans of many years standing will be replaced. Divisional heads and scores of employees in the state highway department were clearing their desks. They will be succeeded tomorrow by Democrats brought in by Murray D. Van Wagoner, who will become state highway commissioner in place of Grover C. Dillman.

Paul Thompson, of Detroit, will be assistant superintendent under Voelker in charge of rural and elementary work. Dr. D. D. Henry, of Battle Creek College, will be an assistant superintendent in charge of public relations and higher education.

KUHN, LOEB CO.
FAVORED LIST
IS UNCOVEREDCOMPANY'S PROFITS
IN FOUR YEARS
$20,000,000

BY D. HAROLD OLIVER
(Associated Press Staff Writer)
Washington, June 30 (AP)—In their study of the organization and operations of the Pennroad corporation, the holding company of the Pennsylvania railroad, senate investigators disclosed today a list of 45 persons and firms permitted to "purchase" Pennroad stock at $15 a share in 1929 when the market price was around $25.

Before recessing until next Thursday, when it expects to hear witnesses on acquisition by the Pennroad of the Pittsburgh and West Virginia railroad at prices far above the market quotations for the stock, the banking committee also disclosed that Kuhn, Loeb and company profited to the extent of almost $5,000,000 by helping to organize Pennroad and by participating in its dealings.

Ferdinand Pecora, the committee counsel, claimed investors in the holding company since have lost over $100,000,000, although Otto H. Kahn, senior partner of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., said this would be true only if all investors held their shares until the present day, when the stock is around $4.

$10 Stock Reduction
Documents placed in the record late in the day by Pecora showed Kuhn, Loeb made total profits between 1927 and 1931 of around $20,000,000 from stock and bond issues it managed and issues promoted by others.

The data also disclosed the New York banking house had a number of small special stock issues in which clients were invited to participate at "cut" prices. Names of the clients were not revealed.

The Pennroad's list of preferred buyers contained the names of individuals who, like Kuhn, Loeb and stockholders of the Pennsylvania railroad, were permitted to buy blocks of Pennroad stock at $15 when the market price was $25 and above.

Among those permitted to buy directly from Pennroad at the cost price were Eugene C. Grace, 1,200 shares; H. E. Lewis, 1,200; John T. Dorrance, 6,000; Drexel and company, Philadelphia affiliate of J. P. Morgan and company, 6,000; Philadelphia National company, 3,000.

Pecora placed the list in the record after reading a letter from Pennroad to Kuhn, Loeb asking permission to withhold stock allotted to the bankers in order to satisfy the special clients.

"We offered to the persons on our client list a little less than 24,900 shares as an allotment on

PENSION ROLLS
SLASHED TODAYNew Fiscal Year Finds
Veterans Costs Cut
Nearly in Two

BY DON J. KIRKLEY
(Associated Press Staff Writer)
Washington, June 30 (AP)—The pension rolls will be lightened by almost one-half tomorrow by the Roosevelt economy program.

The beginning of the new fiscal year brought veterans' expenditures down from 1933 appropriations that aggregated $927,949,000 to estimates totaling $531,988,000 for the new year, a reduction of $345,961,000.

However, not all this amount came out of benefits previously paid former soldiers. Fifty million dollars of the reduction was announced for a decrease in the 1933 appropriation of $100,000,000 for the fund that is being set aside yearly to pay the bonus in 1945. The appropriation for the fiscal year, 1934, was halved.

Benefit payments to between 400,000 and 500,000 men who served in the World and Spanish-American wars stopped tonight at midnight. Estimates of these savings aggregated $135,000,000. Compensation to thousands of other former service men will be less than last year.

Thousands Removed
The total of the estimated 1934 funds for the veterans administration is $602,838,000. This includes $20,850,000 for non-veteran activities, mainly civil service retirement pensions. The inclusion of a similar sum for 1933 brought the appropriation for that year to $488,799,000.

Approximately 387,000 World War veterans who heretofore received disability allowances, for ailments not directly connected with their service will be re-

PRISON BOARD
DENIES CHARGEFernsdorf Incapable of Holding Office, Says
Statement

Lansing, June 30 (AP)—Further exchanges marked the dispute over control of state penal institutions today.

The state prison commission issued a statement, censuring Edward N. Fernsdorf, director of state prison industries, the members charged he has "demonstrated complete incapacity to fulfill the duties of the office."

"His statement that some ulterior and mysterious influence prevailed against him is absurd and childish," the statement said. "The recent survey showed prison industries rapidly approaching a demoralized condition. Fernsdorf hired extra and high priced men and was about to cancel profitable contracts and intended to enter new contracts with irresponsible parties for products strictly competitive with Michigan industry."

The board was threatened with lawsuits for breaking contracts, patent infringements and with the possibility of a break down of prison industry.

The statement said Governor Comstock had given no directions to the prison board except to conduct the penal institutions in their most efficient and economical manner.

Fernsdorf promptly countered with a statement that he had hired no high priced "extra men" and that the contracts he proposed "would bring some real money into Michigan prison industries."

Scientist Warns That Russia's Advancement
Threatens Capitalism

BY F. E. COLTON
(Associated Press Staff Writer)
Chicago, June 30 (AP)—Warning that capitalists' nations must pool all scientific knowledge and trade secrets to meet the "challenge" of Soviet Russia's industrial system and end unemployment was voiced today before the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Only by this means could the nations that now are in the lead industrially maintain this lead, said Dr. A. P. M. Fleming, engineer of the Metropolitan-Vickers Electrical company of England, who is one of the thirty foreign scientists invited to speak before the summit meeting of the association. Several engineers of the Metropolitan-Vickers recently were brought to trial in Russia on charges of espionage and sabotage.

"Whether the Soviet plans succeed or fail, already enough has been accomplished to show the possibilities of this combined scientific effort. Even partial success may have far reaching effects on the rest of the industrial world."

"Should the standard of living be raised to the same, or to higher, levels than those of other countries, and as may in time reasonably happen, hours of labor be shortened, there would be a con-

Ogden Mills Believed
Detroit Bank Solvent,
One Man Jury is Told

Detroit, June 30 (AP)—The statement of one witness that former Secretary of the Treasury Ogden L. Mills believed the closed First National Bank-Detroit to be solvent, and of another that the former treasury head sent a New York banker here to discuss plans for reorganization, tonight went into the records of the one-man Detroit bank jury.

Similarly, a plan was revealed in motion for reopening the First National—a plan which, according to James O. Martin, director and attorney for the bank, would enable payment "at once" of 100 cents on the dollar to all depositors. To date the depositors have received 40 percent.

Should Not Have Closed
It was Martin who told the grand jury, holding public hearings into the collapse of two local national banks—that Mills informed him in a Washington conference of the Central National Bank and Trust Co., of New York, came here a few days after the bank holiday was declared. Davison, he said, offered to take over the two national banks if their assets were written down to 22 cents on the dollar. The plan, they said, was refused.

Previous witnesses, including Herbert R. Wilkin, general manager of the Guardian group of which the Guardian National Bank of Commerce was the principal unit, testified that Davison came here to further a "Wall Street plot" against Henry Ford, with the tacit consent of government officials. William F. Connolly, receiver for the Detroit Bankers Co., of which the First National was the principal unit, has testified he believed the plot against Ford only a "sideline" in a nation-wide plan by New York banks to force the Canadian chain-banking system on the United States by restricting credit throughout the country.

Kanzler, a brother-in-law of Edsel Ford, and a former vice-president of the Ford Motor Co., testified that B. E. Hutchinson, treasurer of the Chrysler Corp., informed him the day after the state bank holiday was declared that Secretary Mills had asked Davison to come to Detroit but that Davison did not wish to come until he was sure he would be welcome.

He testified Hutchinson asked him to talk with Davison and assure him he would be welcome, and the witness said he did so, Davison appearing the next day.

Martin, a former circuit judge, said he conferred with Mills at the request of Detroit bankers who wished to find out the treasury department plans in regard to the closed banks.

"I told him that my agent, A. P. Leyburn, chief examiner for the seventh federal reserve district, had declared the First National

Great Lakes Naval Station Abandoned
Under Economy Act

Chicago, June 30 (AP)—Once regarded as the largest of its kind in the world, the Great Lakes naval training station, 33 miles north of Chicago, tonight passed into the realm of bygone things.

Taps sounded, even as it has sounded every night for exactly 22 years, but tomorrow held no promise of reveille, which for 22 years has awakened the Great Lakes station into activity.

Justified before measure, by its dispatch of nearly 200,000 of the "best men" into the World war as seamen, its prospects nevertheless were troubled before and after that conflict, by rumors of its abandonment or curtailment, until the economy program of President Roosevelt cut it short.

One assistant administrator and 54 deputy administrators, including Arthur Q. Scully, of Michigan, as well as 58 special agents operating from the Washington office of the prohibition bureau, also were on the list.

The attorney general in announcing last Tuesday that 1,369 persons would be furloughed or dismissed said the objective was to meet the edict of Director Douglas of the budget bureau that $4,600,000 must be saved on prohibition enforcement.

Although none of the department officials would be furloughed, it was understood here that the administrators would be furloughed later but that the jobs vacated by investigators and other employees would be left open.

Andrew McCannell, administrator at New York, was among the more than 250 persons dismissed in that district. Other administrators on the list included Robert D. Ford, of Paul, Minn.; George H. Wark, of Missouri; M. L. Harney, of Chicago; Carl Jackson, Denver, Colo.; and R. Q. Merrick, Richmond, Va.

Escaped Prisoner
Sought By Posse

Hart, Mich., June 30 (AP)—A sheriff's posse and state police tonight sought Allan Buck, 30, who struck Sheriff William Van Winkle over the head with a chair as he brought food to Buck's cell in the Oceana county jail tonight, and fled. The sheriff was not seriously hurt. Buck, awaiting trial on a charge of auto theft, stunned the sheriff with the chair, and taking his keys, made a getaway through the corridor of the jail and the offices. His home is in Pentwater.

Authorities said that Buck escaped from the same jail in 1928.

TEXTILE WAGE
SCALES RAISED$12 and $13 Minimums
Accepted After All-
Night Session

BY JAMES P. SELVAGE
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Washington, June 30 (AP)—Indications came tonight that the trade agreement devised by the cotton textile industry with its newly heightened wage scales, would be given quick approval by Hugh S. Johnson, the national recovery administrator.

After an all night session, the spokesmen of the manufacturers came forward late today with a plan to boost its proposed minimum wage to $12 in the south and $13 in the north. Originally the figures were $10 and $11.

Johnson quickly congratulated the industry upon the "patriotic spirit" he said it had shown in leading the way under the industrial recovery act and inferentially gave his indorsement to the wage and hour figures. President Roosevelt is the final authority upon the codes and Johnson said the chief executive intended giving more than perfunctory examination to the agreement.

40-Hour Week Stands
Asking corroboration by the recovery administration's chief economist, Dr. Alexander Sachs, Johnson said the minimum wages proposed would return the purchasing power of the workers to the pre-depression level, and allow for an increase in the cost of living.

Although spokesmen for organized labor had also opposed the 40-hour maximum work week, contending it should be much lower, Sachs said any scaling down of this figure would be impracticable.

He calculated that the spread of employment under a 40-hour week would give employment for 100,000 additional persons, and said shortened hours would mean a shortage of trained textile workers which might drive small mills from the field of operations.

With the cotton textile code under executive consideration after three days of hearings, Johnson was turning to other industries and expected new codes to be presented soon from major groups. He said today he understood four basic industries were about ready to come in with codes similar to

Couple Reveals
Secret Marriage
Of Seven Years

Denver, June 30 (AP)—Their secret marriage seven years ago at Syracuse, Kan., was disclosed here today by James T. Locke, district attorney for Fremont, Park, Chaffee and Custer counties and his bride, the former Inez Pearl Sampson of Three Rivers, Mich.

"Because we had responsibilities to our two families, we had to keep our marriage a secret," Locke, who is 60, explained. "Death of relatives of both of us made it possible to disclose our marriage."

They met at Canon City, where Locke practiced law and Mrs. Locke was a doctor's assistant. Shortly after their wedding, Mrs. Locke returned to Three Rivers to care for invalid relatives and remained there until recently. Her husband remained in Colorado.

They will go to Canon City to make their home.

Prof. Anderson Is

Public Works Job

Lansing, June 30 (AP)—Governor Comstock has recommended Professor Henry Clay Anderson, head of the department of mechanical engineering of the University of Michigan, for appointment as public works administrator for federal aid projects in this state under the federal industrial recovery act.

It is expected that administrators for the various states will be appointed within the next few days. Professor Anderson has been a member of the university faculty for more than thirty years.

ALGER COUNTY
MAN, 41, HELD
FOR SHOOTINGJOHN ANDERSON, 51, KILLED DURING ARGUMENT

Munising, June 30 (Special)—As the result of a quarrel alleged to have started over a 14 year old girl, Anders Johnson, 41, was lodged in the Alger county jail today, accused of murdering John Anderson, 51. Johnson is an old time resident of Limestone township, Alger county.

According to the story told police, the men had quarreled on previous occasions over their affections for the young girl.

This afternoon armed with a 30-U. S. rifle Johnson went to the Alfred Enberg farm where Anderson lived. Meeting Anderson in a barn on the Enberg farm, the pair started quarreling and Johnson fired a rifle bullet at Anderson from a distance of only four feet. Anderson died almost immediately. The shooting occurred about three o'clock.

Johnson later was taken into custody by John Gattis of Chatham, deputy sheriff Trooper Friberg of the state police, and the Alger county sheriff Louis Pelletier. He was lodged in the Alger county jail pending formal charges.

An inquest has been ordered by the coroner.

Government Ends
Year With Another
Staggering Deficit

Washington, June 30 (AP)—Treasury books at the end of a fiscal year today related the story of a $1,760,000,000 deficit but every government department showed the extent of the economies in process to prevent its happening again.

The government's program for the fiscal year beginning tomorrow calls for a reduction of about one billion dollars in the ordinary expenditures of government. This means, in addition to the 15 per cent pay cut affecting every federal employee, that several thousand will be separated entirely from the pay rolls. Unofficial estimates were that more than 3,000 in Washington alone would lose their jobs.

It was the third successive year in which the government has spent more than it collected.

Grand Rapids, June 30 (AP)—John K. Burch, director of the Grand Rapids National Bank, has been appointed interim conservator to handle affairs of the institution until a new bank, organized on the foundations of the old one, can be formed. PUBLIC WORKS PLANS BROAD

$100,000,000 Fund for Highways Available to States Today

Washington, June 30. (AP)—The public works administration expects a hundred thousand men to be swinging picks and shovels on highways within six weeks.

The $100,000,000 highway fund becomes available to the states tomorrow. A statement from the administration tonight said it had information that a number of states intended to push their plans and that many had already arranged to start the work when the money arrived.

Donald H. Sawyer, temporary administrator of public works, said he had been informed the work created by the highway building would be "more than doubled" by increased activities in the mining, manufacturing and transportation industries supplying materials for the highways.

Peak in September

The public works administration estimated 9,600,000 man-weeks of work would be created through the expenditure of the $100,000,000 fund and that thousands of unemployed soon would start moving from relief rolls to payrolls.

Road building operations were expected to reach a peak by September with the public works administration moving as swiftly as possible to get other funds into construction channels and from its $3,300,000,000 total.

The board of cabinet officers in charge will meet tomorrow to decide on a program of federal projects estimated to cost approximately $400,000,000, on which work can be started immediately after Roosevelt gives his approval. Included are rivers and harbors projects, flood control, reclamation work, national park service, roads and trails, Indian office construction and a varied list of other buildings by the 60 or 70 federal agencies included in the program. Details were withheld, however, pending approval of the program.

Michigan Bankers Elect New Officers

Detroit, June 30. (AP)—Herman C. Warner, executive vice president of the Hackett Union National Bank of Michigan, today was elevated to the presidency of the Michigan Bankers' association after Ralph Stone, Detroit, had resigned from the first vice presidency of the organization.

Stone, chairman of the board of the Detroit Trust company, explained that since the association's interests chiefly were with outstate banks, the president should come from a city other than Detroit. The new president served as second vice president last year.

Other officers chosen by the bankers were: James E. Davidson, president of the People's Commercial and Savings Bank, Bay City; first vice president, Ernest L. Pearce, vice president of the Union National Bank of Marquette; second vice president, Lynn T. Miller, cashier of the Commercial National Bank of Ithaca, treasurer.

Mrs. Ella Boole Pleads For Third Party In America

Milwaukee, June 30. (AP)—Charging that both the Democratic and Republican parties had betrayed their constituencies, Mrs. Ella A. Boole of Brooklyn, N. Y., national president of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, today opened the organization's fifty-ninth annual convention with a plea for a new political party.

"We need a new party of moral ideals, a party that stands for the policy of prohibition and its administration by its friends," Mrs. Boole declared.

She assailed President Roosevelt and his administration for the legalization of beer and support of submission of a repeal amendment to state conventions. "The W. C. T. U. will fight repeal every step of the way," Mrs. Boole asserted amid applause by the delegates. The dries have a fighting chance to keep 20 states from ratifying repeal, she said.

a subscription of $2,788," the letter said.

"The majority on the list from whom we have heard have accepted our allotment. There are probably ten objectors, one of whom threatens suit, one or two others indicate that they sold the stock in anticipation of receiving it, and, of course, will lose money in fulfilling their contracts."

Asked to explain the preferred list, H. H. Lee, president of Pennroad, said it was a list of men "to whom I had offered stock in event all offered under the original issue of over 5,000,000 was not taken by stockholders of the Pennsylvania."

He agreed with Pecora that the names were suggested by directors of the Pennsylvania and was an attempt to establish good will, and added that the stock offered to stockholders of the Pennsylvania at the time was "not moving with very great celerity" and Pennroad wanted to be sure that all the stock was distributed.

Lee said he could not recall details surrounding acquisition by Pennroad of over 400,000 shares of Seaboard Air Line.

Pecora brought out that a year after this acquisition the Seaboard went into receivership and said four or five years before the sale of stock earnings of the road had been declining steadily.

Pecora expressed dissatisfaction at Lee's failure to reply to many questions and at one point Barkley (D-Ky.), asked him if he were only a "figure head" in the Pennroad.

"I have always considered myself the real president," Lee replied.

Lee agreed with Pecora that the corporation had made a "mistake" in paying $5,000 for a membership in the Bloomfield Country club of Detroit held by President Franklin D. Roosevelt. Toledo and Ironton, which road was acquired by the Pennroad, Records priced the membership at around $250.

"What benefit did the shareholders get out of that?" asked Pecora.

"None," Lee replied. "That was a mistake on our part. It should have been bought by the D. T. and I."

"Why should it have been bought by anyone but Franklin himself?" asked Fletcher.

"It's the usual practice of corporations," Lee said.

Governor Arrives For Celebration At Mackinac Island

Mackinac Island, Mich., June 30. (AP)—Welcomed by a 19-gun salute and three toasts from the lighthouse fog horn, governor William A. Comstock arrived this morning on the steamer Western States to take part in the celebration here over the week-end.

The governor and his family were escorted to their cottage on the state park by the Eagle Scout honor guard of 20.

Attorney General Patrick H. O'Brien and Deputy General Gerald P. O'Brien, his son, arrived this afternoon. Lieut. W. C. Richardson, of the U. S. army, also arrived to take charge of troops which will take part in the celebration. Maj. Gen. Frank Parker, commandant of the sixth army corps, will come here by plane from Chicago, as will other army officials.

Five members of the state administrative board were due here tonight, and remaining executives are due tomorrow. Northern Michigan's Democrats in high position were trooping into Mackinac City all day.

Teachers Gather In Annual Convention

Chicago, June 30. (AP)—Charges that capitalists sought to destroy educational facilities for the masses and "create a caste system of peasants" were made tonight as the vanguard of 8,000 school teachers gathered for the national education association's annual convention.

The statement, expected by the teachers to be a central point of discussion at the seven day convention beginning tomorrow, was voted by Joe E. Morgan of Washington, D. C., director of publications for the association, at a meeting of the national council of education, organization of leading educators.

"America is in the midst of a struggle between democracy and a caste system fostered by the great financial czars, the gigantic mechanized industries and the privately owned utilities," Morgan said.

Americans Golfers Win At Scotland

Glasgow, Scotland, June 30. (AP)—As an appetizer for the British open starting Monday, Captain Walter Hagen and his Ryder cup men today made an excursion from St. Andrews to western Scotland and before a collected gallery of 4,000 Scottish fans smashed record after record on the White Craig Links.

Defeating a team of 16 of Scotland's best amateurs in a medal play competition, six of the American professionals were under the course record of 70 on the par 71 links, paced by Horton Smith's sensational 65. The team totals were 701 to 723.

Playing the course for the first time, Hagen's men quickly adapted the games to the hilly, fairways requiring many mountain

Hotel Stevens Is Profiting, Might Be Able To Pay Debts

Chicago, June 30. (AP)—So great has been the increase in business brought by the World's Fair that the Hotel Stevens is operating at a profit and may be able to pay its debts to the defunct Illinois Life Insurance company, it was indicated in an affidavit filed in court today.

Counsel for Ernest J. Stevens and his octogenarian father, James W. Stevens, presented the affidavit in seeking and obtaining a continuation of their trial, scheduled for today, on charges of embezzlement and conspiracy growing out of the life insurance company's failure.

Officially, it was said that the next hearing would be on either coal, oil, steel or lumber, but even after the code is presented by the industry a ten-day period must elapse to allow all interested persons to familiarize themselves and prepare to appear.

Meanwhile, President Roosevelt moved to clarify the activities of the industrial administration and its agricultural adjustment administration under George N. Peek.

In an executive order, signed June 26 and made public by Peek and Johnson, the chief executive delegated to Secretary Wallace of the agricultural department various powers vested in him in the industrial control law with respect to the handling of milk and its products, tobacco and its products, and all foods and foodstuffs, except provisions relating to hours of labor, rates of pay and other conditions of employment.

Johnson said the assignment to the farm administration of regulations for marketing procedure and to him of conditions of employment made it certain that "no industry can escape this effort to deal with wages and hours of labor."

Peek supplemented this by asserting that general agreements would be worked out to cover all phases of an industry when possible.

Italian Seaplanes Leave For Chicago

Orbetello, Italy, June 1. (Saturday)—Twenty-five powerful seaplanes roared away from Orbetello at 5:45 a. m. (11:45 p. m. EST) today, carrying Air Minister Italo Balbo and 100 of his crack Fascist fliers on the first leg of a 6,100 mile cruise to Chicago.

Balbo was at the controls of the first plane to zoom off the smooth surface of the lagoon. With him as second pilot was Lieut. Colonel Stefano Carra, who served in the same capacity on Balbo's flight to South America in 1930.

Balbo's flagship was flanked by two other planes forming a triangular wedge, the one on the left commanded by Captain Luigi Quasta, and the other on the right by Captain Attilio Bisco.

Only an overnight stop is planned at Amsterdam. Tomorrow morning, if everything goes well, the squadron will continue to Londonderry, North Ireland—a distance of 650 miles.

The rest of the route is as follows:

Londonderry to Reykjavik, Iceland—910 miles.

Reykjavik to Cartwright, on Sandwich Bay, Labrador—1,500 miles.

Cartwright to Shediac—800 miles.

Shediac to Montreal—500 miles.

Montreal to Chicago—870 miles.

siderable degree of labor unrest in other countries.

Moreover, the possibility must not be overlooked that Russia may tend to become a great exporter of manufactured goods.

"This situation is developing at a time when there is little industrial cooperation between the other countries and there is no doubt that this challenge of a communal to a competitive plan justifies a careful consideration of the advantages of further cooperation especially in the matter of pooling of scientific resources and experience."

"With the lead that the foreign manufacturing countries jointly possess and with the fullest use being made of their joint scientific resources, it should be possible to meet the challenge successfully."

Discoveries in pure science are already made available internationally as soon as they are made, Dr. Fleming went on, but application of science to industry is kept private either by patent or secret process. This protection, however, is not so effective as previously because through use of modern and technical resources "patents are likely to be circumvented and secret processes revealed," and this, he said, was an additional argument for pooling knowledge.

The present system by which nations use scientific discoveries for their own gain to the detriment of competing countries was one important cause of the present world-wide unemployment, Dr. Fleming stated. The solution, he believes, lies in the removal of the barriers that impede free flow of commercially useful information. This would make knowledge available for creating new industries to absorb unemployed.

PENSION ROLLS SLASHED TODAY

moved from the rolls. About 74,000 Spanish-American war veterans likewise come off. In addition, there are several thousand veterans in other classifications, such as the 6,014 emergency retired officers. Between one-half and two-thirds of these men go off the roll.

An end to hospitalizing veterans, whose troubles were not connected with service came also, but veterans administration officials said there would be adequate facilities for all former soldiers for disabilities or diseases resulting from their war service in spite of a reduction in the hospital and domiciliary care fund from $115,000,000 to $85,773,000.

Veterans administration officials were unable to estimate how many former soldiers would be affected by the hospitalization reduction, but said that only one hospital at Dwight, Illinois, had been suspended under the economy program. They estimated that the cost of this hospital for 1933 was approximately $225,580.

Permanent and totally disabled veterans, even though in the non-service connected class, will continue to receive benefit payments. There are approximately 30,000 of these for which $10,142,760 is allotted for 1934 as compared with $93,025,064 appropriated in 1933 for 414,491 veterans who received non-service connected disability allowances.

Disability compensation, which is the designation of payments to former soldiers for injuries or diseases considered of service origin, will be cut varying amounts in individual cases. There are 328,100 soldiers in this classification. For them the 1934 estimate is $118,272,240 as compared with the 1933 appropriation of $203,629,169.

The total compensation paid to dependents of veterans, including widows, children and parents, will be decreased but slightly by the economy law. The 1934 total is $36,830,000, compared with a 1933 appropriation of $37,581,685.

The total allowed for 1934 veterans of the Spanish-American War and Boxer Rebellion is $41,741,644 as compared with $119,449,232 for 1933. Veterans administration officials were unable to estimate how many Spanish-American war veterans would go off the rolls but the Spanish-American War Veterans association estimated approximately 74,000 would be removed out of the 197,000 heretofore listed. The association said most of the 123,000 left on the rolls would receive pensions of $15 a month.

Officials of the veterans organization said that under the economy law veterans 62 and over who previously received from $30 up to $60 a month if 75 years or older, hereafter would get $15 a month unless totally disabled in which event they will get $30.

Durant Plant Sale Decision Deferred

Detroit, June 30. (AP)—Decision on the acceptance of a $400,000 offer for the plant of the Durant Motor Co. of Michigan at Lansing was postponed until Thursday by William S. Sayres, special master in chancery for the federal court following an all day hearing.

The offer was made by the Lansing Manufacturing Co., acting for an undisclosed principal. Original offer was $300,000 made at a public sale last Saturday. Later the bid was raised to $400,000, but Mr. Sayres had fixed a "rock bottom" price of $500,000 for the plant.

Mr. Sayres today refused to order confirmation of the sale for the amount offered, and took ad-

VETERANS RAS ECONOMY ACT

Rescind Demand for Immediate Removal of Frank T. Hines

Cincinnati, June 30. (AP)—Rescinding a demand for immediate removal of General Frank T. Hines, director-general of the veterans' bureau, the disabled American veterans of the World War today shifted their fire to sponsors of the national economy act.

At their annual convention here they voted to reconsider a resolution of yesterday demanding dismissal of Hines and of J. C. O'Roberts, his assistant.

Then they approved a statement that "the resolution dealing with the removal of certain officials places the injustices done the veterans upon certain individuals and not at all times been satisfactory. It is understood that they have 'looked under orders'."

Reconsider Action

Hence, resolved, "that we place the full responsibility upon all parties having any part in the enactment of the economy act as it relates to veterans, and do condemn their apparent ungrateful unpatriotic, un-American and inhuman action in dealing with the war's disabled. These people include the national economy league, the national chamber of commerce, and their heavily-financed allies."

Bitter at reduction of compensation paid them by the government for their injuries, the veterans vented their feelings yesterday in the resolution demanding the removal of Hines and O'Roberts. Today national commander William Conley pleaded with them to reconsider what he called a hurried and thoughtless action. He succeeded when delegates of the department of Minnesota, sponsors of the original resolution, swung to his support.

Earlier, the delegates went on record as "standing ready to support a review of all claims for compensation," and thus their leaders said, showed willingness to stand or fall by the justice of their claims. Concurrently, they approved a declaration of faith affirming readiness to fight again in the national defense.

The convention closed with the election of Joseph W. McQueen of Kansas City as national commander and selection of St. Paul, Minn., as the 1934 meeting place.

Child Drowns As His Friends Watch

Tecumseh, Mich., June 30. (AP)—Forrest Woodcox, 6, drowned this afternoon in Quaker Mill pond here, but because four little friends who witnessed the tragedy became panic-stricken and agreed among themselves not to tell his death did not become known for several hours.

Forrest, the little witness finally related, took off his clothes, slid down the bank into the water and did not reappear. Their fright mounting as they waited, the boys finally hid Forrest's clothes in some shrubbery near his home and went to their own homes.

Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Woodcox, Forrest's parents, did not become worried until he did not appear for his evening meal. Searching for him, they found his clothes and finally elicited from his companions what had happened. The body then was recovered.

national insolvent," said Murfin. "Mills said, 'he had no right to do that. Your bank was solvent. Had it been insolvent, it would have been my duty to have put it in a receiver. I only had the right to say whether or not it was in solvent.'"

Murfin disclosed the plan for reopening the bank, but declined to reveal details, saying he feared premature publicity would "ruin" the proposal. He said, however, that a small group headed by Emory W. Clark and Col. Fred M. Alger has been working on the plan.

"I think it is a wonderful plan," he said. "One feature of it, if it goes through, is that every creditor will get 100 cents on the dollar and the bank or banks will be owned by Detroiters." He offered to reveal details of the plan in private to Judge Harry B. Keidan, sitting as the one-man jury, and to Prosecutor Harry S. Toy.

Murfin declared he believed the whole idea of the state banking holiday was "a terrible mistake," and said he had begged his associates not to do it.

Veteran, Released From Pension Roll, Confesses Murder

Dayton, O., June 30. (AP)—A veteran of two wars confessed today, police said, that he killed Colonel Vernon Roberts, 55, chief of the National Military Home medical staff here, because he was dropped from the federal pension rolls.

James B. Shadbolt, 55, former resident of the home, had planned originally to slay Congressman Byron B. Harlan, authorities quoted him as saying, but shot the physician after he failed to find his first intended victim.

Colonel Roberts was called from his home last night and shot four times by an assailant who then fired one wild bullet at Mrs. Roberts as she ran to her husband's aid. An hour and a half later, police found Shadbolt cowering in the home cemetery nearby.

As Shadbolt was held to the grand jury without bond on a charge of murder, investigators prepared to subject him to a thorough examination on the theory he might be mentally unbalanced.

They said the Spanish-American and World war veteran told them he had decided to shoot Representative Harlan because he voted for the federal economy act which resulted in his removal from pension rolls.

PARLEY STILL IN DISPUTE ON STABILIZATION

against speculation, the New York bank would have to be ready to make purchases of dollars, and for this purpose the gold embargo would have to be somewhat relaxed so shipments of gold would be necessary to cover dollar purchases.

The dollar was relatively steady today, after two days of erratic variations. It opened at $127.00, depreciated to $126.90, moved on covering to $126.95, closed at $126.94, or merely one-fourth cent down from yesterday's bid price.

NEW INDUSTRY STARTED HERE

Rustic Furniture Being Made for Cafes and Beer Gardens

The Tavern Furniture factory, which was established in a section of the Birds-Eye Veneer company's plant here, now has its operations well under way and this week completed the manufacture of a full set of beer garden fixtures, L. A. Meloche, manager of Escanaba's new industry, announced yesterday.

Legalization of 3.2 beer in the country has created a wide market for the new concern's products. The plant is manufacturing booths, front and back bars, lighting fixtures and other beer garden furniture of rustic design out of white birch, with the bark varnished. Table tops of attractive appearance are also being made out of the celebrated birds-eye maple veneer.

Production is still on a small scale, with three men employed, but Mr. Meloche is hopeful that the operations may be increased as the products of the concern become better known. The rustic furniture is considered ideal for the equipping of beer gardens, restaurants and summer cottages. The manufacture of log-cabin playhouses for children is also contemplated.

The first installation of the Tavern Furniture factory's equipment was made this week at the Flat Rock Birch Tavern, owned by Fred Marenger, well known Flat Rock resident. The Flat Rock tavern is opening for business this evening. Equipped with the rustic furniture of rustic design the establishment is one of the most attractive of its kind in the county.

Early Harvesting Boosts Value Of Local Hay Crops

The hay crop in the Upper Peninsula is the most valuable of all field crops. This territory harvests annually over 350,000 tons of this crop and it furnishes the basis for most livestock rations. The harvesting of this crop at the proper stage gives the growers an opportunity to increase the value of this important feed crop.

According to results obtained at Michigan State college alfalfa cut at different stages produced the following yields and contained the amounts of protein as indicated:

Stage of Maturity	Per Cent Protein	Yield in Tons
Rud Stage	17.5	2.78
1/10 Bloom	16.5	3.21
Full Bloom	15.4	3.43
Seed Stage	13.3	2.93

The above results show that alfalfa should be cut at from 1/10 to full bloom in order to get the highest yield and the greatest amount of protein.

These same results would be obtained on any other kind of hay. Even timothy and quack grass hay or wild hay is much better if cut early. This is especially important with wild hays since they should always be cut before the seeds are mature enough to spread to other parts of the farm.

By employing the proper method in curing the hay more of the color and leaves can be saved. This is important for approximately two-thirds of the protein is contained in the leaves of alfalfa. If these are lost the value is reduced. Allowing the hay to remain in the swath too long reduces the chances of producing the best quality of hay. Hay should be raked into small windrows within two or three hours after it is cut on good drying days. When cloudy it may be left longer. Be sure to get it into windrows before the leaves become brittle. For those who do not have a side delivery rake small cocks may be used instead.

The recommended time to cut the different hays, in order to get the highest yield and the greatest amount of protein, is as follows:

Alfalfa—One-tenth to full bloom.

Clover—Full bloom until leaves start turning brown.

Sweet Clover—Just before blooming.

Timothy—Full bloom until seeds start forming.

Peas and Oats—When peas start forming.

Vetch and Oats—When vetch is in full bloom.

Wild Hays—When they can still be put up green and before seeds have formed.

TAX ON SALES NOW IN EFFECT

Retailers Adding Three Per Cent on Price of Merchandise

Delta county retailers will commence to collect the three per cent sales tax for the state of Michigan this morning. The collection of the tax will be made on a uniform bracket system, adopted by the merchants at meetings held last week under the sponsorship of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce.

Several phases puzzling One question has loomed up above all others in the discussion over the phases of the sales tax: when a change includes professional or trade service as well as the price of "tangible property transferred for a consideration."

The following rate schedule for charging the sales tax to the buyer will be observed by Delta county retail establishments, beginning today:

Sales of from 1 to 5 cents—	No tax.
Sales of from 10 to 35 cents—	1 cent tax.
Sales of from 36 to 67 cents—	2 cent tax.
Sales of from 68 cents to $1.09—	3 cent tax, and so on up.

How will the tax be levied? How, for instance, is a tax to be equitably levied on the sale of a $100 electric refrigerator, if say $20 of the cost is for installation and service, which is intangible and not a part of the price of the refrigerator itself.

The opinion is that the tax will be levied on the selling price of the merchandise itself, and not on the service which must, however, be included in the sale. The commission, under the law, however, has the color right to assess a tax on the total sales price, and will invoke this right if the division between the price of the merchandise and for service seems unfair. For instance, if the merchant reported to the commission that his price on a refrigerator was only $50, the installation cost was $50, then the commission would collect the full tax, and consider the report an evasion.

Undertakers have asked questions: must they, for instance, in billing their customers for a $500 funeral, itemize a casket for $100, the balance for professional services? The ruling is that the state does not care how the bills to the customers are made out, but that a separation of the two items must be carried on the books, for state inspection, with a tax only on the price of the casket and other tangible personal property transferred.

This ruling applies to painters, plumbers, dentists, tailors and others, who, for one price, sell both an article for their services for making or installing it.

Sales Before July 1 Second in importance is the matter of what constitutes a sale before July 1, the question being: shall a tax be collected on sales which are "started" before July 1? The ruling is that the test of a sale is the delivery of the merchandise and the transfer of title. "Lay-away" sales of fur coats for delivery next winter are "future sales" and therefore taxable, unless the cost is fully paid before July 1, and is being kept by the merchant as a convenience to the customer.

Delivery of supplies of sporting goods and athletic equipment to schools next fall, on orders placed last spring, are future sales and taxable, if the goods are paid for on delivery, it was ruled. Pending receipt of copies of the tax regulation, merchants are advised to assess the tax on sales of merchandise to schools, the municipality and other local governmental units, as it is not known definitely if these groups are included in the section of the law that exempts sales to state institutions and state departments.

COMPROMISES NEEDED

A FEW weeks ago the leading world statesmen were discussing the London conference in terms of the MacDonald-Roosevelt remark—"We have got to make it succeed."

Today this fine sentence seems to have been forgotten, and the various delegates at London, our own included, are evidently willing to come to an international agreement only if they can do so without receding an inch from their respective national policies.

A short time ago they were telling us that agreement at London was a matter of the highest importance. Today they are acting as if the conference were some vast sort of poker game in which the big idea was to get all you could from the other fellow without giving up a thing yourself.

America talks of general tariff reductions that will stimulate world trade, but refuses even to discuss war debts and grows suddenly deaf when currency stabilization is mentioned.

England also talks of reviving international trade, but clings to trade agreements like the Ottawa pact and the recent agreements with Denmark, Argentina and the Scandinavian countries. France likewise indulges in pious talk but clings to her gold standard, refuses to pay a dime on the war debts and hints at the establishment of a self-contained economic unit by France and her colonies.

Japan prepares to discuss armament reductions by insisting that she be permitted to build a navy as strong as any on earth.

And so it goes, until one wonders whether the people of the world today have yet reached a state of mind in which any important international agreement is possible.

But it may be that the pessimism created by early activities at London is not entirely justified. After all, the reasons for the calling of the conference are still as potent as they ever were. The spokesmen for the various countries know that a complete failure of the present discussions would be nothing short of a catastrophe. An attitude of complete intransigence may go very well at the beginning, but it is quite possible that a general modification of it will be seen before the discussions are ended.

That, at any rate, is the way most of us prefer to look at it. The issues at stake at London are too important to be allowed to fall just because the various delegates are afraid of compromise.

A NEW CHAMPION

PRIMO CARNERA, the "man mountain" from Italy, is the new heavyweight champion of the world.

It is doubtful, however, that American fight fans will ever regard the giant Italian as a real fighter. Instead, Carnera impresses them as a circus freak, who managed to get in a lucky blow after Jack Sharkey had severely pummeled him for six rounds.

Nevertheless, the next championship fight is going to be a "natural" for the promoters. The forthcoming bout between the new king of Fistic and Maxie Baer, the logical contender, will attract a large crowd, even though these fans know that neither of these two fighters are not the men that old John L. Sullivan, Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney were.

A Carnera-Baer battle at Soldier's Field next fall would be a stellar attraction for the Century of Progress Exposition.

BOATING DEVELOPS

WHAT has puzzled many visitors to this city is the apparent lack of appreciation on the part of our citizens of the wonderful little bay that Nature has provided for us at our front door.

Years ago, boating was a popular pastime on Bay de Noc. Then the automobile came. Folks left their boats to rot on the beaches and took to their motor cars and the dusty roads.

Of late, however, there has been a drift back to the enjoyment of our water sport facilities.

A surprisingly large number of small sailboats and other small craft can now be seen along the waterfront. The sight makes Escanaba look more like a summer resort community.

STATE COMMENT

MADE work, improving business, increase in state jobs, planned legislation and politics are some of the matters treated by Michigan editors in recent days.

The Muskegon Chronicle is for the getting of federal money while the getting is good. It explains:

"From the standpoint of a federal policy The Chronicle still disapproves of the tremendous piling up of the public debt in what is bound to be a wasteful dissipation of public funds, and that will have to be repaid out of the sacrifices of the American taxpayer. The government, with the overwhelming approval of the American people, has definitely committed itself to this program—and the money is going to be expended, somewhere. We shall have our share in repaying it, regardless of what part we have in spending it. We owe it to ourselves to spend as much of it as we can legitimately devote to a legitimate purpose. Of the legitimacy, the urgent necessity of the water filtration and sewage disposals there can be no question."

The Flint Journal notes reviving business. It hopes the revival will not go off a trot and into a run. It reminds:

"As the weeks skim by—seemingly at a somewhat more rapid pace since business started to show improvement—many economic students are wondering just how long this upturn in industrial activity can continue without a 'correction.' Many of the most astute observers are of the opinion that it would be better for business if it did continue its move forward without some seasonal lull. At the same time, these experts do not want to see a drop now which would exceed seasonal proportions, for such a development would hamper further recovery most seriously. For the most part, the large public and the tremendous army of unemployed are unconcerned by whatever dangers there are in the failure of business to slow up this summer."

The Pontiac Press thinks of the tax officials soon to be going up and down the state. It comments:

"Creation of another 125 state jobs in the list of inspectors who will check up on the books of merchants to prevent evasion of the newly created sales tax is just another symptom of the old charge that cost of collection eats into any new form of tax levies. Report that more than 300 inspectors will be chasing about the state when the new tax collection machinery gets into motion emphasizes the fact that Lansing is overlooking no chance to create jobs and reward the faithful. Michigan with its new commissions and wholesale creation of political jobs will rival any state in the union."

Sing Sing lists a circus contortionist among its convicts. Doubtless he has promised that he will go straight when he gets out.

Washington dispatch says U. S. treasury's "conscience fund" has just passed $600,000. There's nothing in the record, however, to show that the latest contribution came from J. P. Morgan.

A mystery of the great American home is how a daughter who is too tired to wash the supper dishes nevertheless has plenty of energy to go out and dance until 2 a. m.

Those noiseless street cars that Chicago is getting ready to introduce should certainly mark an important step in that city's war on rackets.

Senator J. Ham Lewis, in a prediction that the London conference will fail, intimates he is tired of hearing about the bush. Has he decided to shave off those famous whiskers at last?

CHAPTER XVI

Elinor had never had such a session with her mother as that on the drive home from Miss Ella's. She said again and again, "Mother, people are starting—!" but it made no impression. The chauffeur's face reddened from the stares of men and women in the cars. They passed, Lida's voice was so loud and high-pitched it could be heard through the glass. "I pity that girl!" the chauffeur thought. The thought was an old one that frequently became a chant when the servants were together.

Now Lida was laughing a shrill, sneering, hysterical laugh. So far as the chauffeur could hear there had been no reply at all from Miss Elinor.

He sympathized with the girl even more deeply as he opened the door of the car a little later. Lida swept into the building, brittle and strong from her flaming anger. Elinor crept after her, her face pale with white.

"For a moment," the chauffeur told the butler later, "I thought she was going to fall—poor kid!"

Elinor's reactions were divided. In one way she was glad that she had done what she had. For another reason she deeply regretted it. Lida had said, eyes narrowing and glittering, "Think of your father! The way he has slaved all his life. And now you—with a cigarette—have burned every chance he ever had for rest and independence!"

Elinor would even have lied to give her father all that he deserved. She would have lied gladly and as well as she could. But it was too late.

Barrett Colvin had not once looked at her. This realization crept between every separate recollection of the afternoon. She had stolen side glances at him, the chauffeur's face reddened from the stares of men and women in the cars. They passed, Lida's voice was so loud and high-pitched it could be heard through the glass. "I pity that girl!" the chauffeur thought. The thought was an old one that frequently became a chant when the servants were together.

"Well, what is it?" Lida flung petulantly. She loathed being disturbed so early.

"Aunt Ella's gone—" Elinor said. Lida sat up. She laughed shrilly. "A pretty time you chose—" she began. It was the old story Elinor had heard so often during those two dreary days. A story of her having ruined her parents' future.

Lida punctuated her diatribes with questions. "And you knew perfectly well how she felt—who telephoned?"

"Craven," Miss Smythe is prostrated—"

"Miss Smythe prostrated! How delicious! Your father can't go to the office? He knows that?"

"Yes."

"He'll probably be cut off without a cent—as you know. And of course you know why too but, even though he gets nothing, he must keep up appearances. He hasn't a decent black dress. Has Bessie telephoned?"

"No."

"That's odd. I suppose she

LYRICS OF LIFE

UNLIVED

Tomorrow always seems so fair,
Today seems only toll and care;
And so our joy we try to borrow,
Forget today and live tomorrow;
And since, my friend, it can't be done,
We end by living neither one.

However fair tomorrow seems,
It can be only lived in dreams.
It always lies behind the curtain,
Today alone the one thing certain.
Tomorrow we can only guess,
Today we really may possess.

How shall it be with you, my friend?
Tomorrows only, till the end?
Today there is so much to find you,
Tomorrow you must leave behind you.
So what to you shall living mean?
Things only thought of, nothing seen?

What shall life being you, after all?
Nothing accomplished to recall?
The things half-finished, joys half-tasted,
While all the ripened fruits were wasted?
What shall you see, who backward gaze—
A life of lost, unlived to-days?

BOATING SPORT POPULAR HERE

Pleasure Craft Dotting
Bay de Noc This Summer

With larger boats on the north shore where the water meets depth requirements, and smaller craft on the south shore, off Ludington park in large numbers, Escanaba's lake front is for the first time in history assuming the appearance of a pleasure craft harbor.

The thrills of sailing and speed-boating are attracting more and more enthusiasts and the number of followers of water sports is increasing rapidly since Sheldon Cobb and Ben Young first launched their lone sailboat about three years ago.

Few Large Boats
The number of larger boats is, of course, limited, but the skiffs, most of them rigged up by the young sailors themselves, in a manner to do credit to experts, anchored along the shore or dotting the bay in the wake of a stiff breeze, are becoming a lake front attraction.

Foremost among the larger craft is the "Cherokee," gasoline power boat, forty foot bow, in which her owner, Fred Royce, takes no little pride. The "Cherokee" is large enough for lengthy lake trips and has several long cruises to her credit.

The sloop, "The Ghost," owned by John Mitchell, is another attractive craft which has a record of long cruises to her credit. "The Ghost" is the only large sailboat in the harbor.

A newcomer in this class is the "Keweenaw," twenty-seven foot surf boat, which was recently acquired by the pioneers in Escanaba's sailing colony, Ben Young and Sheldon Cobb.

Other Boat Owners
Along the south shore, where the water is lower are found the smaller craft, among them "Babe," speed boat, owned by Bruce Brackett, "Sez You," sixteen foot sailboat which belongs to David and John Anthony; sailboats owned by Max Tushak, Frank Karas, and Mungo Miller, and jointly by John Stephens and Dave Carter, and by Ed Reeves and Roy Gangsted, and a racer sailboat, which is owned by A. M. Arntzen.

Sea Scouts, recently organized, affiliated with the Boy Scouts, have completed a mooring dock, just opposite the lower Ludington park tennis courts, as their first project, and they are starting on the marking of the channel into the bay as their second undertaking. The dock, which requires a coat of paint and a few finishing touches, will provide mooring space for all small craft on the lake, and at its present size has space for fifteen boats.

Conservation Film Loans Increasing

Lansing.—Since January 1, film loans made by the Educational Division of the Department of Conservation have increased 15 per cent over the same period in 1932.

During the first five months of this year the 16 reels of Michigan wild life and conservation pictures now included in the department's library have been shown to 343,000 Michigan adults and school children, as compared with an attendance record of 292,000 from January to June 1932.

NO HURRY
The firemen were having a game of checkers when the alarm went off and the chief ran into the room.

"Make it snappy—the fire alarm's gone."

"But it's only just gone."

"All right—but only one more game, mind!"—Passing Show.

'Brain Trust' Shuns Capital Social Whirl

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

Washington.—One of the things that has confounded official Washington about the "brain trust" which is popularly supposed to be running the government, is the fact that nobody ever sees any of them—socially at least, and seldom enough in a business way.

The course for many liberals who come to Washington is a brief period of social period of social aloofness, and then a swift campaign by the hostesses of Massachusetts avenue which results in abject surrender to the social lobby. Many a new government lion and goes out like a drawing-room lamb.

But the brain trust members keep pretty much to themselves, and that part of Washington which likes to pat the manes of social lions in its reception rooms has been sadly disappointed.

But this aloofness is nothing to be surprised at nor does it imply any special addition to the high hat. Brain trust members accept few invitations for the same reason that they would be refused by a one-armed paper-hanger with chigger bites—they're busy.

To Busy for Society
You can't sit up all night drafting bills which will overnight revolutionize farming or industry, and attend pink teas on the side. Besides, most of the young intellectuals of the brain trust acquired the one-arm lunch habit early in life and it sticks.

There are a lot of funny stories about the preoccupation of these hard-working young men.

The one, for instance, about the young stenographer in the State Department who, just the other day and months after Raymond Moley had been working as assistant secretary of state, noted a picture of Moley in the paper.

She clipped it out, and caused quite a stir in her end of the State Department by rushing about and showing the clipped picture with the breathless words, "Look, look! This is Mr. Moley!"

Meeting Moley
And of course the story is bound to become a classic of the visiting dignitary and personal friend of the president who called Mr. Roosevelt and said:

"Frank, I have something vitally important that must be done right away. Can you get me an appointment with Ray Moley?"

Then there was the disgusted congressman, accustomed to free access to all department officials, who called one of the younger son that they would be refused by a one-armed paper-hanger with chigger bites—they're busy.

Brain Trust Members
So this congressman, disgusted by repeated requests to state his business, snorted into the phone:

"Just tell him I wanted to know if he could play marbles with me!" and hung up.

Another cause of the apparent social aloofness of the brain trust, of course, is the fact that most of them haven't any domestic establishments in Washington.

Mrs. Moley, for instance, is in California, and Mrs. Berle in New York. William Bullitt is a grass widow, and the fudge party participated in by Moley and Secretary Woodin is a lot more typical of the social diversions of the brain trust than the formal 12-course dinner of a Chevy Chase hostess.

Her Best Friends Told HER

... and SHE found it Good Advice

MRS. SMITH had been having difficulty keeping the family budget balanced. She wondered if it was her fault because her friends, whom she knew had no greater income than her own, seemed to be getting along quite well. One day she asked them how they managed it. They all said that they kept their budgets balanced by careful buying with the advertisements as their shopping guide. They advised her to try planning her buying through the ads in the Daily Press. She took their advice... the result was a balanced budget with a comfortable margin left over for saving.

Mrs. Lantz At

Mrs. Charles Lantz returned Thursday night from St. Mary's, Kansas, where she attended the ordination of her cousin, William J. Ryan, of Spokane, Wash., into the order of Jesuits.

Father Ryan, who celebrated his first low mass on Monday at St. Mary's, is a son of Mrs. Joseph Ryan, of Spokane, who lived here a number of years ago, and who is a sister of the late Peter Hoffman, of this city, Mrs. Lantz' father.

The beautiful ceremonies of ordination in which a class of 35 young men were received into the society opened Friday and closed on Sunday. They were held in the chapel of the Immaculate at St. Mary's college.

The occasion was a happy reunion of relatives in the family of Mrs. Lantz, who came from seven states for the ordination, and many of whom met there for the first time.

Picnic Sandwich Requires Care In Planning

The right sort of sandwiches fresh fruit and a drink of some kind can be made to serve as an adequate and nourishing lunch. When a sandwich is to form the real "piece de resistance," it should be substantial and both the filling and the bread should be thicker than that in the tea sandwich.

The picnic of sandwiches and fruit has many points in its favor. It does not mean the packing and unpacking of baskets, no dishes are to be washed at home and no scraps are to be disposed of when the lunch is eaten. The real picnic meal requires as much planning and preparation as any meal for a special occasion and means time and effort for the house-keeper.

Choose "Hardy" Sandwiches. There are certain kinds of sandwiches that will endure several hours of packing and jolting and heat and still be palatable. Others are ruined after an hour's standing. Meat sandwiches, plain cheese, olive and nut, many vegetable sandwiches and some sweet ones are "hardy" and will stand much. But tomato, cucumber and some varieties of cheese, delicious as they are, are best served on the porch or in the garden.

Various kinds of breads are good and are of great value in adding variety to the menu. A thin coating of butter should always be spread on one side of each slice of bread. Butter not only materially increases the food value of the sandwich, but also aids in preventing the bread from absorbing the filling. Crisp lettuce leaves are another aid in keeping the filling from soaking into the bread, making it soggy. Meat sandwiches need lettuce for another reason. The lettuce furnishes the green vegetable so necessary and adds bulk to the diet. Trim lettuce carefully so that it just fits the bread and there will be no unappetizing wilted edges.

The careful wrapping of sandwiches is most important because both bread and fillings keep moist and palatable if air is excluded. Finely minced cabbage, celery and carrot sandwiches may be given to quite small children. Cottage cheese and jelly put between graham bread will be good for small folks. Finely chopped prunes combined with peanut butter is another popular mixture with juniors. With milk and fruit even four-year-olds can find a picnic not at all upsetting if the sandwiches are wisely chosen.

Crisp Salads Will Intrigue Lagging Appetite

With summer menus to plan and prepare, it is an excellent idea for the home-maker to have a few good salad recipes on hand. When your family refuses to eat very much of anything you probably will find that their appetites will be appeased by cold, crisp salads.

Halt the trick of appetizing salads lies in the attractive manner in which you serve them. Your lettuce or other salad greens always must be very crisp. One way to keep lettuce crisp is to keep it wrapped in a clean, damp cloth near, never on, the ice. Rinse it in ice water and dry it carefully before you arrange it on the plates.

Chicken Salad a Favorite. Chicken salad in tomato aspic is a summer favorite. Here's the way to make it.

Dissolve one package of lemon gelatin in one-half pint of boiling tomato juice. When all the crystals are dissolved, add another half pint of cold tomato juice and a teaspoonful of lemon juice. Set the bowl in the ice box until the gelatin starts to congeal.

When the mixture is about half congealed stir in one small cupful of diced chicken, 2 tablespoons each of chopped celery, diced tomatoes and sliced cucumbers. Salt and pepper to taste and put it all back into the ice box.

When the gelatin is firm and set, scoop it out of the bowl with a tablespoon and arrange individual portions on a bed of lettuce. If it is to be served for luncheon loosen the whole by dipping the bottom of the bowl in warm water, turn the bowl over on a large platter of lettuce and serve at table.

The above recipe will serve 10 with a suitable dinner salad and will serve 6 for a hearty luncheon.

Stuffed Prunes Delicious. Cream cheese can be served in salads in a variety of ways. That old standby, prunes stuffed with cream cheese, is a summer favorite.

You simply soak the prunes overnight, cook them the next morning until they are tender, remove pits and place them on a plate in the refrigerator. When the prunes are quite cold, stuff them with small balls of cream cheese. If the cheese is hard and not easy to roll into balls, add a little sweet cream to it. Top the stuffed prunes with a few pieces of nut meats. Arrange them on salad plates—four to a person—garnish with salad dressing and serve.

Cream cheese and pineapple salad is as popular in winter as in summer. Serve a whole ring of pineapple to each person. Place either a slice or ball of cream cheese in the center of each ring and top the cheese with dressing. Fresh pineapple rings are delicious and healthful so why not make the most of the fresh fruit while it is in season?

Waffles Always Popular, Ideal For Emergencies

Lucky indeed is the bride who numbers a waffle iron among her wedding or shower gifts! There are few other dishes that are hailed with such enthusiasm at any meal from breakfast to the after-movie party. As a main course or in place of cake in the dessert, a crisp golden waffle pleases everybody.

Rice waffles and creamed chicken or fish, plain waffles and maple syrup or honey, waffles and crushed strawberries, chocolate waffles and ice cream, ginger waffles and whipped cream and later in the season, green corn waffles—these are just a few suggestions for varying the waffles and their ways of serving.

Ideal for Emergencies
One important point in favor of waffles lies in the fact that they must always be made at the last minute. This puts them in the first rank of "emergency" dishes, for the guest can never guess whether they were planned or not. No matter how impromptu the meal, waffles are a treat.

Remember that waffle batter is a "pour" batter. For this reason it's much more convenient to mix the batter in a pitcher and pour it on the waffle iron rather than dip it with a spoon from a mixing bowl.

Never wash a waffle iron! The cast-iron iron must be seasoned before using, but after that even this material should not be washed. After each baking wipe with soft crumpled paper and remove all crumbs with a stiff brush kept for the purpose.

Plain Waffles
One and one-fourth cups flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1-3 teaspoon soda, 2 eggs, 1 cup sour milk, 4 tablespoons melted butter. Mix and sift flour, salt and baking powder. Add milk stirring to keep smooth. Add yolks of eggs well beaten and melted shortening. Mix thoroughly and beat in sugar dissolved in a little cold water. Fold in whites of eggs beaten until stiff. Bake in a hot waffle iron.

The batter can be made several hours in advance and kept on ice until wanted. To make chocolate waffles melt two squares of baking chocolate and add 1/2 cup sugar. Decrease amount of sugar 2 tablespoonfuls. dough and make 4 holes in top. Bake 25 minutes in moderate oven. Turn out, upside down, and serve warm or cold.

TO GO TO ISLEGilligan to Head Local Delegation to Rally at Mackinac

A delegation of approximately 50 local Democrats is expected to leave here Monday for Mackinac Island to attend the governor's banquet and hall at the Grand Hotel honoring Governor and Mrs. Comstock. The banquet will begin at seven o'clock central standard time. Heading the local delegation will be J. W. Gilligan, chairman of the Schoolcraft county Democratic organization.

Included among the 750 guests who are expected to attend the big Democratic rally are Postmaster General Farley, Hon. Primm M. Brown, Hon. Michael Hart, and the entire official family of the state. Attendance at the banquet, however, is not strictly confined to members of the Democratic party for "in truly Democratic fashion we are sending out a general invitation by advertising in upper peninsula papers in order that all who wish to greet our governor may have an opportunity to do so," according to Mr. Gilligan from the secretary of the Mackinac Island state park commission. Guests are requested to come in informal dress.

Those desiring to return home on Monday evening, July 3, following the banquet and a portion of the ball, may do so on the Steamers Akomah and Elva, both of which will depart at 10 p. m. for St. Ignace and Mackinac City.

All guests are urged, however, to remain over night and participate in the splendid Fourth of July celebration at which time Governor Comstock and several distinguished guests will speak in Marquette Park at 10:30 a. m.

Bank Laws Reformed
by State LegislatureBY GILBERT T. SHILSON
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Lansing, June 30 (AP)—Group banking organizations, some of which are now in operation, were banned by the legislature. The new banking system was made more flexible, and it is possible branches may supplant group units. Emergency legislation was enacted, new reorganization rules were laid down and general banking law amendments designed to aid the home owner were approved.

Rudolph E. Reichert, state banking commissioner, declared the changes in the banking statutes are "bound to benefit depositors." He added, however, that as long as banking is related to property and security values there must be flexibility, and therefore there can be no iron-clad guarantee.

No Holding Companies
Holding companies, as well as group organizations, are barred from organizing in the future. The legislature stipulated that corporations may not hold bank or trust company stock.

The emergency laws were designed to legalize dictatorial powers assumed by the Governor when he declared a banking holiday and to speed reorganizations. They became operative in 1935. Reichert declared that under the powers granted him and the state advisory banking committee, by the emergency act banks are being reorganized rapidly. In six months there may be no more conservators, he said. By that time all state banks will either have no reorganization plans approved or will be in the process of liquidation, he said.

The new branch banking act allows banks of sufficient and approved capital to set up branches anywhere within the state providing they can secure state approval. Branches rather than group units may be the order of the future. Under the branch banking system the parent bank would be directly responsible. There would be no separate set of directors or stockholders for individual units.

The Emergency Act gives the banking commissioner, the Governor and the advisory committee broad power to step in and take charge of a bank's affairs. Conservators may be appointed. Once they take charge of the bank the institution is indirectly in the hands of the state. Depending upon its condition, the bank finally will be liquidated or reorganized.

Bonds Bought
While the state can order reorganization, the rights of depositors were enlarged. Under the old law the consent of 85 percent of the depositors was required. Now 65 percent may petition for Local sport fans will be given an opportunity of enjoying some splendid entertainment next Tuesday afternoon, July 4, when a track meet will be held between members of Companies 655 and 656 of the Civilian Conservation Corps at Steuben. The track meet will begin promptly at 1:30. Keen competition and rivalry exists between the members of the Kentucky and Steuben camps and the spectators will no doubt see some sterling marks hung up by the Detroit athletes. Winners will receive cash prizes.

In addition to the track program, other fine athletic exhibitions have been carded for the afternoon. At three o'clock a diamond ball game will be played between the Manistique Cleaners and the Steuben Foresters. The teams have met once before, the locals winning by a one-run margin in staging a two-run rally in the final frame. At four o'clock four boxing bouts will be presented between the boys of Kentucky and Steuben.

Track Events

Track events, together with the Steuben entries in each event are as follows:

The relay races will consist of teams of four men each, each runner to run 50 yards.

Those who will represent the Steuben camp are Joseph Fennally, 150-pound division; Sam Gold, 135 pounds; Clarence Monroe, 126 pounds; and Mickey Robertson, 118 pounds.

Oils Rally To Win
From Nortons 9-7

A two-run rally in the last half of the sixth after Nortons had fought an uphill battle to tie the count in the first half of that inning, won a hard fought diamond ball game for the Sinclair Oils at the eastside diamond Thursday evening by a score of 9-7.

Bob Marks' second homer of the contest spelled defeat for Nortons when with one away in the sixth he walloped the pill on the roof of the county jail with Barnes on base.

Both Marks and Larion pitched fine ball, although both were a trifle wild. Walks and errors figured prominently into the run making as Marks allowed but five safeties and Larion and Eldon Norton, who relieved Larion in the fourth, permitted but six hits.

The brunt of the attack was borne by Marks and McNally for the Oils, the former connecting for two circuit clouts and the latter hitting safely three times for a perfect percentage. Wilcox, with two hits, led the way for the losers.

It required 22 years for 20,000 men to build the Taj Mahal at Agra, India. It is the tomb of Mumtaz Mahal, favorite wife of Shah Jahan, the great Mogul of Delhi.

U. P. Diamond Ball
Champs Will Play
Locals Here Sunday

An all-star diamond ball team composed of players from the personnel of the Manistique Cleaners and Sinclair Oils will play the Munising Starolines, upper peninsula champions, at the eastside diamond Sunday afternoon beginning at two o'clock. The Starolines last year won the upper peninsula championship in the diamond ball tourney at Escanaba.

For the locals Stoor and Marks are billed in the hurling roles with Ekdahl doing the receiving. Miron and Whitmore will form the battery for the visitors.

The Misses Doris Saunders, Jean Fowler and Eleanor Crawford are attending Northern State Teachers' college during the summer term at Marquette.

Menominee Band To Play Here Wedn'day

The 33-piece Menominee high school military band disappointed a large gathering of local residents yesterday noon when the scheduled 15-minute concert was cancelled due to lack of time. The band will play in front of the Liberty Safe next Wednesday noon upon its return trip from Mackinac Island where it will perform during the four-day Democratic rally at the special request of Governor Comstock.

Roger M. Andrews, chairman of the Mackinac Island park commission, who stated that the band was to play here, failed to notify Menominee officials of the engagement. Due to the fact that the musicians had to arrive at St. Ignace at a scheduled time and because Menominee is operating under central standard time, the band was compelled to leave immediately after dinner.

Mrs. John Larion and son John, accompanied Mrs. Asher Fox, Mrs. Duane Leonard and Charles Smithers to Duluth where they were called by the death of their sister, Mrs. Myrtle Thomas, and have returned home.

WHO MADE GOOD

MISS MARY BROWN, Charming Member of the Younger Set, knew her cosmetic lore and her feminine lure, was versed in Poiret and Patou, the Pouring of Tea and the gentle art of Playing Subdeb. She knew the names of the best jumpers at the Horse Shows, and who was Possible and Impossible.

But what she knew about Cooking, Buying for the Table, and Keeping House, you could write on one of her pink little fingernails in Capital Letters.

Papa had spent his Last Cent to equip her to be a Rich Man's Bride. But at the last minute she Obeyed that Impulse and married Bill, who had a Tough Job supporting even himself on his Meager Salary.

But Mary was game. She stowed her "Litt. B." from Vassar in the Attic and started to learn what a Whale of a Difference a Few Cents make.

She became Advertising-Conscious. A Bargain in Sheets would make her Emote. She felt like Turning Handsprings when she got the News of a Price Reduction, or how to make the Left-over Roast into a Ragout. In fact, she was having so much Fun making her Dollar Bills Stand Up and Work that she never had Time to feel Sorry for Herself.

Wild Cotton Plant Found Along Road

Observing a large area covered with what appeared to be white flowers along either side of the right-of-way in the vicinity of Seney Robert Wright stopped to gather some. They were not flowers but a variety of wild cotton plants. A sample was sent to the department of agriculture and received a report that the name is "erophorium polystachyon latifolium." Try to remember the name whenever you get into some argument regarding wild plant life. The ordinary name is thin-leaved cotton grass or cotton rush.

THEATRES

Buck Jones will never be able to give the slip to a motor cop, if he should get caught speeding over Southern California roads, because his super short model roadster once seen is too distinctive to be forgotten. Painted beige and red it has a silver mounted steel's head on the radiator and a battle-ship prow rear deck. Buck himself drives to and from locations, and during the making of his latest Western, "Hello Trouble," a Columbia picture now at the Rialto Theatre, he was a familiar streak on the highways at dawn and at sundown every day.

U. P. M. Preview

"Gambling Ship," rapid-fire melodrama of life aboard a floating casino, opens its run at the Rialto Theatre tonight.

Cary Grant, Benita Hume, Jack LaRue, Glenda Farrell and Roscoe Karns play the leading roles in the film.

SALES TAX IN EFFECT TODAY

Bracket Method of Levy To Be Used by Retail Merchants

Money will start flowing into the coffers of the state through a new source of revenue, the retail sales tax which goes into effect today. Collection of the levy, set by the statute at three per cent on every retail transaction, will be made by the merchants or retailers.

The following schedule will be used by retailers, here and in the county as a basis in levying the tax on individual purchases:

Sales to 9 cents, tax free.
10 to 35 cents sale, 1 cent.
36 to 67 cents sale, 2 cents.
68 to $1.09 sale, 3 cents.

These brackets will be used throughout in computing the tax the customer is to pay on a purchase. For instance, on a $1.68 sale an additional six cents will be charged or on a $2.36 sale there would be a tax of eight cents.

The merchant will pay the state three per cent on his gross proceeds, or the total amount of money or other consideration taken in on sales made from July 1 forward. Money collected for debts contracted previous to the tax going into effect is not taxable. Monthly returns must be filed by the merchant by at least the 15th of the month following. July returns are to be filed by August 15 and at that time the merchant must apply for a retailer's license for which a fee of $1.00 is charged.

Building of an organization for the collection and handling of the tax reports and returns is now being rushed by James E. Morgan, formerly of Escanaba, deputy auditor general, who has been named as managing director of the state board of tax administration.

Postmasters Cannot Give Information On Home Owners Loans

Postmasters are not in a position to impart information relative to the establishment of the Home Owners Loan corporation or pertaining to any details of the plan. Postmaster Frank A. Miller stated yesterday.

Some confusion has arisen, according to Postmaster Miller, on account of the receipt of information by postmasters to the effect that the Home Owners Loan association might seek quarters in post offices where space was available, thereby creating the erroneous impression that postmasters would handle the business of the corporation.

Pending designation of state and local offices of the loan corporation, which will be accomplished as soon as possible, all applications and letters of inquiry should be addressed "Home Owners Loan Corporation, Washington, D. C."

As soon as plans have been completed for establishment of state or local offices, the information will be made public, Mr. Miller states.

Mr. and Mrs. Ewald Asplund and children, of Ishpeming, visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Windfall Monday. Mr. Asplund is a brother of Mrs. Windfall.

Cliff Sutter Eliminated in Wimbledon Singles

HUGHES BEATS AMERICAN STAR

Stoefen Has Rough Going Before He Defeats H. G. N. Lee

Wimbledon, Eng., June 30 (AP)—With the exception of Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, who easily advanced to the last eight of women's singles, American entrants in the Wimbledon tennis championships had heavy going today with Cliff Sutter eliminated and Lester Stoefen barely winning in fourth round matches.

Mrs. Moody, worried for a time by Sylvia Henrotin, second-ranking French woman player, won 6-3, 6-0 and Stoefen, outstayed H. G. N. Lee, third ranking British player, to win 5-7, 2-6, 7-5, 7-5, 6-3.

Sutter was overpowered by George Patrick Hughes, English Davis cup player, in three surprising sets, 9-7, 7-5, 6-3.

Sutter had been expected to win, along with Stoefen and Mrs. Moody, and had even been touted as a probable finalist against Ellsworth Vines, Jr., but he could not match the tenacity of Stoefen and the forcing play of Hughes.

The former American intercollegiate titleholder did not appear to be on his game, before a gallery including Queen Mary, making her first visit to the tournament, but his errors seemed more the result of Hughes' play than his own inaccuracy.

Vines Meets Penn—The same fate almost befell Stoefen. The slightly built Lee, looking like a child alongside the towering Californian, out-manuevered and outguessed the Californian to take the first two sets. The American finally began to charge the net after his cannon-ball service and swung the tide of battle his way.

Mme. Henrotin, handicapped by an injured ankle, had Queen Hughes dashing about to retrieve well-placed returns in the first set but once Mrs. Moody got the range she quickly ran out the match.

Helen Jacobs, United States singles champion, paired with Don Turnbull, Australia Davis cupper, to defeat S. Rodzianko and Mrs. B. Pones 6-1, 6-3 in mixed doubles; Elizabeth Ryan, paired with Mme. Rene Mathieu, advanced in women's doubles at expense of Mrs. H. Holcroft, Miss E. H. Harvey, 6-2, 6-2, and the former American students, Clayton Lee Burwell and David N. Jones, defeated Dr. Daniel Penn and Pierre Grandguillot, German-Egyptian combination, 8-6, 5-7, 9-7, 7-5.

Mrs. Dorothy Andrus Burke was eliminated in mixed doubles with her Hungarian partner, Bela Von Kohring by Mme. Sylvia Niescopoulis, of Greece, and Antoine Gentien, of France, 6-4, 7-5. The former Harvard player, W. L. Breese and W. L. Ryan, his partner, were eliminated in men's doubles by Baron Gottfried von Cramm and E. Nourney, of Germany, 6-3, 6-2, 6-4.

Vines will swing into action again tomorrow, meeting Daniel Penn, former German champion, in a fourth round match while David Jones will play Henri Guillet in another men's singles features. In women's singles the United States is bound to lose one entrant as Miss Jacobs and Mrs. Burke meet in a fourth round match.

Medwick's Homer, Beats Giants, 2-1

New York, June 30 (AP)—With two men out in the ninth inning, Joe "Ducky" Wuckey, Medwick, young left fielder of the St. Louis Cardinals, drove one of Hal Schumacher's pitches against the upper tier of the left field stands to give the Cards a 1 to 0 victory over the Giants today.

The triumph, the seventh for St. Louis over New York this season without a loss, reduced the Giants' lead in the duel for first place to 2½ games.

The game was a duel between Schumacher and Jerome "Dizzy" Dean for eight innings and the New York right hander had the edge until Medwick's wallow broke a string of 28 2-3 innings in which he had not allowed an earned run.

Score: R. H. E. St. Louis. 000 000 001—1 5 1 New York 000 000 000—0 6 0 Dean and Wilson; Schumacher and Mancuso.

Emery And Bliss Reach Golf Finals

Williamsville, N. Y., June 30 (AP)—Walter Emery, young University of Oklahoma sophomore, provided the biggest upset of the national intercollegiate golf championship today as he came from behind to defeat Charlie Yates of Georgia 4 and 3, in the 36-hole semi-final round.

Trailing by one hole at the 27th, Youngs Emery took five of the next six holes to gain the right to meet Rodney B. Bliss of Cornell for the title tomorrow. Bliss advanced to the finals by defeating Henry J. (Hank) Kowal of Colgate 2 and 1, in a tightly contested duel.

In the Bliss-Kowal match, the lead swung back and forth throughout the day. Bliss' approaching and putting gave him the victory.

Athletics, Browns Split Bargain Bill

St. Louis, June 30 (AP)—Philadelphia and St. Louis divided two slugging contests here today, three home runs featuring the afternoon play which resulted in a 12 to 11 victory and a 11 to 7 defeat for the Browns.

Philadelphia achieved hitting honors of the day, with 18 in the first and 16 in the second in the first contest Jimmy Fox, leading American league home run hitter, delivered his twentieth circuit count of the season.

Campbell and Johnson duplicated his performance in the nightcap.

First game: Philadelphia 022 010 204—11 18 0 St. Louis 003 020 004—12 16 0 Earnshaw, McHarris, and Madjeski; Wells, McDonald, Gray and Shea.

Second game: Philadelphia 023 003 021—11 16 1 St. Louis 303 000 001—7 13 1 Walberg and Madjeski, Cochran; Coffman, Hebert, Stiles, McDonald and Huett.

Connelly Inspects Work Of Umpires

Detroit, June 30 (AP)—The Detroit News today said that Tommy Connelly, chief of the American league umpires, was in Detroit investigating the work of Roy Van Graflan and Bill Summers, now at Natch, Miss.

The News says that Connelly's visit was to settle an argument which arose over Van Graflan's decision on a hit by Gerald Walker in yesterday's game. Van Graflan called the ball fair, while most of the Washington team disagreed. Summers, in the clubhouse later, was quoted as saying that he signaled the ball foul to Van Graflan from his position at third base.

Connelly today told inquirers that his visit here was in the nature of a routine inspection, and that it bore no relation to the dispute growing out of Thursday's decision.

Nose-Fly Found Infecting Deer; Flesh Unharmed

Continued investigations by the Game Division of the Department of Conservation during the past spring have revealed nose-fly infestations in Michigan deer in the upper peninsula as well as the Alpena district.

Previous to 1933 nose-fly larvae had been found only in deer in Alpena and Montmorency counties. The past spring a report of eight dead deer was received from Ontonagon county and on investigation it was found that they were infected with nose-fly larvae.

Further investigation revealed similar conditions among deer in Gogebic and Alger counties.

While the nose-fly is apparently not in itself fatal to deer in all cases, and while presence of the larvae does not in any way contaminate the flesh for food purposes, often their effect has weakened the deer to such an extent that they become prey to pneumonia during the winter, according to the Game Division.

The grubs or larvae mature in early summer and crawl from the deer's nose. They burrow into the ground and pupate, emerging as a plump, fuzzy fly. These flies hunt up another deer and deposit an egg or eggs on the deer's nose with a drop of wax. These eggs later hatch into a minute worm which crawls up into the deer's nose and into the nasal cavity where during the winter it develops into the larvae as found in deer from January to July.

Victor Cahalan, then an employee of the Game Division first discovered nose-fly in Michigan deer in Alpena county in 1930. Early in 1931, 13 dead deer in the same area were found to contain nose-fly larvae. More than a hundred of these larvae were taken from one deer found in the Lunden Game Refuge in 1931.

A change in the course of the Missouri River left the town of Carter Lake, Iowa, on the Nebraska side and it is impossible to enter the town by land without first passing through Omaha.

Cranberries were originally called cran-berries; the fruit is borne on a curved stalk which suggests the neck of a crane.

Philadelphia, June 30 (AP)—Four hits resulting in three runs in a ninth inning batting spree today gave the Phillies a 5 to 4 verdict over the Pittsburgh Pirates for their second straight win in the series.

The tying run was brought in by Jim Elliott, burly left-hand pitcher, who stepped to the plate, with one out, as a pinch hitter, and cracked out a single that sent Al Todd home.

Accounts Are Short, Four Men Indicted

Washington, June 28 (AP)—John Cooke Grayson, one time employee in the chief national bank examiner's office and brother of Rear Admiral Cary T. Grayson, and three other men were indicted today in connection with a $1,700,000 shortage in the accounts of the Park Savings Bank here.

The others named by a District of Columbia grand jury were David P. Smith, Alexander W. McNeil and his son, Benedict McNeil, former assistant cashier of the bank. All were charged with conspiracy to commit embezzlement and larceny. An additional charge was brought against Grayson asserting that he conspired to defraud the United States.

Carnera Knocks Out Sharkey to Win Title

Fight Between Baer And Sharkey Looms

(By The Associated Press) (Associated Press Staff Writer) New York, June 30 (AP)—The mourners and the gleeful conquerors gathered around Madison Square Garden today to pick over the cold bones of Primo Carnera's rise to the heavyweight championship of the world by reason of a sixth round knockout of Jack Sharkey last night.

When the walling and chortling had ceased for the day the situation stood as follows:

Carnera, biggest champion in the history of the ring, probably will not fight again this year, preferring to hoister his bankrupt finances with a vaudeville and exhibition tour, and motion picture appearance.

Sharkey vs. Baer—Jack Sharkey wants another fight.

chance at the new champion but is willing to fight Max Baer in September to prove himself the outstanding challenger.

Madison Square Garden wants to promote that bout, but Jack Dempsey, close friend of Baer and promoter of his knockout victory over Max Schmeling, seems to have the inside track on the match. Schmeling seems the logical alternate for a September match with either Baer or Sharkey if the latter pair fails to get together.

The fight drew less than any heavyweight title match in history of boxing here with only two exceptions, the Jess Willard-Frank Moran and the Jack Dempsey-Bill Brennan bouts both held indoors in the old Madison Square Garden.

Returns today showed 35,000 customers paid a total of $198,189.66, with net receipts, less taxes, amounting to $163,798.61. The Willard-Moran fight drew $151,000 and the Brennan-Dempsey match $134,904.

Sharkey's share, 42 1-2 per cent of the net receipts was $69,605 with Carnera receiving $16,375 or ten per cent. Profit to the Garden was estimated at $25,000, less expenses, with Mrs. William Randolph Hearst's free will fund for babies, Inc., receiving 25 per cent of the final net profit.

William F. Carey, president of the Garden since the death of Tex Rickard in 1929, confirmed reports that he had resigned effective with the completion of last night's match. His successor will be John Reed Kilpatrick, once a

HAROLD BENSON

Relatives and friends gathered in large numbers Friday afternoon to pay their final respect to the memory of Harold Benson, Escanaba business man, who died suddenly Tuesday, following a major operation.

The parlor of the Anderson funeral home in which the services were conducted were filled to their capacity, and the resting room in which the body lay was banked to its ceiling with beautiful flowers.

The services which were at 3 o'clock were conducted by Rev. O. F. Dahlberg of the Swedish Mission church, of which Mr. Benson was a prominent member. During the service, "Going Home," a song which Mr. Benson, a talented soloist, particularly liked, was sung by B. W. Hall, Miss Pearl Olson playing the accompaniment.

Among the out-of-town friends and relatives who attended the Benson funeral were Mr. and Mrs. Schleitweiler and daughter Alice, Fixtus Nelson, Charles Lindstrom and daughter Florence, Mrs. Oscar Greenlund, Mrs. Myrtle Lindstrom, all of Stambaugh; Mrs. Axel Lundell, Iron Mountain; John Benson, Chicago; F. Benson and son Carl, Peoria, Ill.; Mrs. Amanda Benson and family, Menominee; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Michael and daughter, Battle Creek, and friends from Gladstone.

FRED M. OLMSTED, SR.

Escanaba Utility Bills Lower, But Tax Is Going Up

Starting with this month, statements to all users of Escanaba city utilities will be sent out monthly, and meter readings are now under way to shift to the new monthly billing system.

Gas and water service sold to consumers beginning with today will also be subject to the state three per cent sales tax, which will be added to monthly bills. Electric current users are already paying a three per cent federal tax, and with the state sales tax will pay a total of six per cent on electricity. This double tax on electricity will be in effect until September, when the federal law provides that the producer of electricity shall assume the federal tax.

Vincent Ream, young Washington sculptor, was the first woman to receive a federal art commission; she executed the statue of Lincoln in the rotunda of the Capitol under this commission.

POSTAGE RATE REDUCED TODAY

Local Delivery Letters Can Be Mailed for Two Cents

A letter for delivery in the same city or town in which it is mailed will require only a two-cent stamp, beginning today. Postmaster George G. Genesee reminds postal patrons.

The postmaster general, in announcing the reduction on local mail, said the postoffice department hoped to regain much business, which was lost when the rate was increased to three cents last July. Many concerns have been sending out bills and other local communications by messenger.

The reduction in local rates is being made under terms of an act passed at the recent session of congress. The act also permits the President to change the rates on other classes of mail if this should be found advisable later.

Warrant Issued For Woman Who Seemed Hungry

A warrant was issued on Justice George W. Carr's court Friday for the arrest of a woman who secured food and refreshments from two local shops through a hoax and never came back to pay for them.

According to information secured by the police, the woman went into the Karmelkorn shop at Ludington and Ninth and ordered a quart of ice cream, saying that she was going to put it in her car and instructing the fountain attendant to fix up a malted milk in the meantime. The malted milk was made ready, but the woman didn't come back.

A similar system was used at Belle's Coffee shop, where a bowl of salad was ordered. The salad was delivered, and as an afterthought the patron asked that ten sandwiches be made up. She took the salad out to the car while "waiting" for the sandwiches, but never returned.

Police believe that the identity of the woman has been established, and the warrant was issued on the strength of their information.

AMUSEMENTS

"As the Devil Commands," Columbia picture, and Halton Powell's famous Hill Billies in person will feature the program at the Delta today.

Written by Keene Thompson and adapted for the screen by Jo Swerling, "As the Devil Commands" is an exciting story of the crime that was too perfect to succeed, bringing to the screen an entirely new type of film villain. Dinehart, you recall his excellent work as the power behind the throne in "Washington Merry-Go-Round," plays a scheming criminal lawyer, or more to the point, lawyer-criminal, who refuses half interest in a large estate and then goes about plotting to get the whole thing. He plans what he believes to be the "perfect crime," but reckons without a pretty girl in love with the man on whom he tries to pin the blame. And thereby hangs the story.

Just how the crime that defied detection is finally solved makes capital screen entertainment. Mae Clarke is the girl and Hamilton the young actor whose neck she saves in the nick of time.

C. C. C. Dance at Alton—The benefit dance of the Civilian Conservation Corps of Garth will be held at the Alton grange hall tonight. It was explained yesterday. Previous announcements that the dance would be at Pine Grove pavilion were erroneous. Special entertainment features will be furnished by the Garth camp foresters. The Aces will play the dance numbers.

Aimee Will Return To Hubby Hutton

Los Angeles, Calif., June 29 (AP)—After all this furor over a baby and divorce rumors and cliques at Angels Temple, Mrs. Aimee Semple McPherson-Hutton is coming home quietly to settle down after her latest fling at globe-trotting, her husband, David Hutton, said today.

Hutton said the evangelist is coming home in about two weeks, having shown remarkable recuperative powers after an operation in Paris that is now generally understood to have been plastic and not obstetrical.

He added that Mrs. McPherson-Hutton had announced her plans in a private message to him. The husband of the evangelist fumed a few days ago because she had been addressing her messages to him through temple headquarters.
